"The Here and Now" singers, lined up on the mezzanine above, serenade blood donors at the most successful Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic in St. Lambert's history. The group, consisting of some 50 local teen-agers voluntarily gave up their entire evening and gave out with such delightful sound at John Gravel Automobile that John Gravel invited them all out to a sumptuous chicken barbecue feast afterwards. The clinic collected 267 pints of blood, a record for the city and 67 pints over the objective set for the eve.
